C National News

There are few places better for a National Championship regatta than Lake Geneva. This will be a must-see event! That doesn't mean this regatta is only for the "pros". LGYC is planning a family friendly event with back-to-back racing. This will get you on the shore quicker. They also have great social events planned at the club. If you're not much of a regatta sailor, why not make this the first big event you attend? I guarantee you'll be hooked. And if you always travel to regattas, spend the weekend talking to the guy on your lake that doesn't travel. Convince him/her to come to Nationals. Find a double decker trailer and travel together. Either way make sure C-Nationals is part of your sailing summer schedule.

REGISTRATION - Only 16 people have pre-registered for Nationals so far. Road Warrior Champions - Team Beulah - are leading the way with 8 boats registered. C-Boaters are notoriously slow in registering for regattas, but if you don't register by 6/1 (post marked) you'll have to pay an extra $25. That's gas money that could be getting you to Geneva! Send in your registration today.

LGYC PARKING - The Lake Geneva Yacht Club is a premiere facility for major sailing regattas. Their 3 cranes and large parking layout facilitate quick launching and haul out. Still, everyone likes to be close to the clubhouse and the crane. If you want to park up front you need to send in your registration. Parking spots are being assigned based on when LGYC receives your registration. The longer you wait, the farther up the hill your boat will reside. Help LGYC plan, and guarantee your spot up front, by getting your registration mailed today.

See you in Lake Geneva,

Chris Andert, M-25

Melges steps up to support Nationals

Lake Geneva Yacht Club and Melges Performance Sailboats invites you to the 2008 National C Scow Championship! Lake Geneva is one of the most beautiful sailing venues in the world and the LGYC facility features many docks, many hoists and a large parking lot for easy set up and access. This event is going to be the C scow event of the year - please attend!!!! Melges will be on hand at the championship with free hats for each boat, tuning and expert advice along with parts for people in need. While you are in town, check out famous Zenda USA too!
